Academy Amends Abbot Plan; Wins Approval Of Planners

By Frank Messina

In a tale of two campaigns, Phillips Academy's efforts to renovate/convert Draper Hall into apartments seems to be gaining momentum while neighborhood opponents to the plan may have lost a bit of steam this week.

On Monday and Tuesday, the Board of Selectman and the Planning Board respectively heard arguments from both sides of the controversy with the planning board giving their stamp of approval to a proposed bylaw change that would clear up zoning difficulties standing in the way of a historical renovation of the 98-year-old building.

If approved at town meeting on April 4, the revised bylaw would allow large buildings of 50,000 or more square feet located in residential-A zones to be converted into multi-family dwellings.

Phillips Academy, which has failed twice before to make use of the aging three building complex at School and Abbot streets without investing large amounts of capital, is determined to make the third time the charm.

Representatives of the private school have scoured the town, speaking before several local groups to corral support for the town meeting article.

Their message, as printed on signs and buttons distributed around Andover: "Save Abbot Hall."

If more momentum was needed, (Continued on Page 42)

Academy Teacher Appointed

Paul Kalkstein, Phillips Academy, Andover, will serve as a member of the Commission on Composition with the National Council of Teachers of English.

The Commission on Composition is a deliberative and advisory body which each year identifies and reports to the NCTE Executive Committee on current key issues in the teaching of writing, reviews what the National Council of Teachers of English has done during the year to encourage excellence in the teaching of composition and recommends new projects and persons who might undertake them. It monitors current NCTE publications on composition, suggests topics for future NCTE books and pamphlets on this aspect of English and performs a similar role of review and recommendation for NCTE Convention program content. Occasionally, the Commission on Composition undertakes further tasks and projects, in answer to needs of composition teachers at various levels of education, elementary school through college.

The National Council of Teachers of English is a professional organization for teachers and supervisors of English at all levels of education. Its aim is to improve the teaching of English and the language arts in the nation's schools and colleges. NCTE conducts national meetings and small conferences, publishes journals and professional books on problems and issues in the teaching of English and provides other teaching aids. Its task groups carry out a wide range of projects to enhance the teaching of English.

Parental Help Requested By Trustees

The library trustees are requesting that parents not drop their children off at Memorial Hall Library and leave them for several hours, especially on weekends. There is not enough room for the tremendous number of young people who have been coming to the library, often just to socialize with friends. Parents should be aware that for the next couple of months only those students doing serious work will be accommodated. Rules and regulations regarding the use of the library have been posted throughout the building. Those students found to be not working or observing library rules will be asked to leave. However, many adults have complained that there is no place for quiet reading and study. Weekend staff cannot handle the overflow.

The library has always been a place where anyone can read or use library materials. The trustees want to accommodate and help as many people as possible, but cannot do this when the library has become a teenage drop-in center.

Partying With Pasta Tonight

Bancroft Elementary School's Parent-Teacher Organization will hold its annual pasta party tonight. Dinner will be served continuously from 5 to 7 p.m. and will include baked ziti, Italian bread, a fresh salad bar and dessert.

Annual Tax Bills In Mail

Andover property tax bills will be mailed today or tomorrow. The deadline for payment for the fiscal 1988 tax bill, less estimated payments made last November, is Monday, May 2.

The tax collector's office in town hall will be open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Extended hours from 6 to 8 p.m. will be offered on April 25 and May 2.

Those wishing to appeal their property assessment have 30 days from the mailing. Questions regarding the assessment can be directed at the town assessor's office. If the tax bill is not received, contact the tax collector's office.

North Main St. Parking Banned

The state department of public works has prohibited parking on both sides of North Main street from Shawsheen Plaza to Route 495.

The parking ban went into effect this week and some cars have been issued warning tickets by Andover police. Full enforcement of the ban is expected to begin next week.

Radon Test Kit Program Ending

The Andover Health Department has been offering home radon testing kits to residents. The kits are being sold at $15, approximately half their usual cost. The program has been scheduled to end at the end of March. Radon gas is best measured during the winter months when homes are more secure to the environment. Pending analysis of the data collected, the health department will evaluate the need of continued testing during the next winter season.

For more information, call Dan Tremblay or Joanne Belanager at the Andover Health Department.

Scholarship Available

Applications are now being taken for the William Albert Trow Scholarship Fund of West Parish Church. Applicants must be 21 years old or younger and residents of Andover.

Trow, a lifelong deacon of West Parish Church, had a deep concern for the education of young people. While preference will be given to members and those associated with West Parish Church, the fund is open to town residents.

Application forms may be picked up at the church office, 129 Reservation Road, Monday through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Completed applications are due by April 1.

SURPRISE! UNCLE SAM DIDN'T MESS WITH THE 2 BEST REASONS TO HAVE AN ANDOVER BANK IRA.

We believe that FDIC/DIFM insurance protection is one of the most important features of an Andover Bank IRA. Your investment, no matter how large, is safe and secure. And is not at the mercy of stock market fluctuations. Thanks, Uncle Sam.

You should also know that interest earned on your Andover Bank IRA is completely tax-deferred. That means you won't have to square accounts with the IRS until you retire—when you'll probably be taxed at a much lower rate. Thanks again, Uncle.

Although Uncle Sam did mess with your ability to use IRA contributions as a tax deduction, you and your family may still qualify for a tax deduction if you open or add to an Andover Bank IRA. We've been banking leaders in the Merrimack Valley for over 150 years, and we want to make sure our neighbors have an opportunity to take advantage of tax breaks. To open or add to your IRA, to find out about tax implications, or to transfer an existing IRA to Andover Bank, stop in any of our eight convenient offices. And when you do, be sure to ask about our special CD rates for your Andover Bank IRA.

THE FUTURE OF ANDOVER DEPENDS ON YOUR VOTE MONDAY, MARCH 28

THE POSITION OF LAWRENCE S. SPIEGEL, CANDIDATE FOR SELECTMAN, ON IMPORTANT ISSUES FACING ANDOVER RESIDENTS AND THEIR FUTURE.

The future of Andover rests on solving important problems of current concern to all citizens and especially to local neighborhoods facing the impact of major projects.

The future of Andover is also equally dependent on indentifying and meeting local and regional challenges and opportunities that are arising as major issues.

The future of Andover and its success depends on recognizing existing and potential situations of importance that could positively or negatively affect our town. It also requires involvement, communication and cooperation of the town administration and departments with all citizens.

The future of Andover requires the strong independent leadership, proven experience and maturity that I have as candidate for Selectman. I am the only candidate with a twenty year record of recognized service in town government and the proven ability to represent the best interests of all Andover citizens.

My campaign for selectman has been based on describing what I feel are major issues and demonstrating how I would provide the independent leadership necessary to meet these challenges.

Town Government

A strong Board of Selectmen must set policies for the Town Manager and town employees to administer. The Selectmen must be responsive to the needs and feelings of neighborhoods and citizens having special concerns and requirements. The doors of Town Hall must always be open and the Selectmen must always be ready to take Town Hall to the people.

Budget Planning

The town exists for its people. Human services is a first priority and cannot be compromised. Budgeting must be tough and operate within the framework of an up-dated Master Plan and Capital Planning Program.

Tax Classification

Although opposed to tax classification for real estate, I would reconsider that position annually if there was a financial threat to providing human services, treating town employees fairly or if an unreasonable shift of tax burden fell on residential property. I would fight for establishing commercial property as a third classification.

Local and Commuter Traffic

These problems are becoming increasingly worse. Major solutions are required. Building a large commuter parking area for an express bus depot, expanding rail services to Andover and creating a Boston-Newburyport-Andover rail loop for continuous train service are examples of the types of extensive solutions that will be required.

“The doors of Town Hall must always be open and the Selectmen must always be ready to take Town Hall to the people.”

Lawrence S. Spiegel
Candidate for Selectman

Affordable Housing

Chapter 774 comprehensive permits for subsidized housing gives great power to the state and developers. Andover has done an excellent job in meeting this challenge and must continue and improve its program and involve the entire town in facing this potential neighborhood threat. Trying to modify this law and exploring other alternatives for affordable housing are important.

Regional Growth

Growth cannot be stopped, but it can be managed. While Andover's growth rate may slow, the region is still expanding around us which will have a direct effect on our town, its roads and services.

Regional Challenges

Acute challenges like diverting the Merrimack River, dramatically increased Lawrence Airport traffic, dumps for sludge from Boston Harbor and fill from the Central Artery depression are typical of extraordinary situations that Andover could face fairly soon.

Candidate for Selectman

Twenty years of recognized community contribution with experience and skills necessary to provide independent leadership for Andover's future.

Presently

Chairman, Municipal Building Re-Use Committee; Chairman, Development and Industrial Commission; Chairman, Industrial Development Financing Authority; Commissioner, Merrimack Valley Planning Commission

Previously

Personal

Dr. Spiegel is President of Spiegel International, an Andover-based international food and resource development technical consulting organization. He holds several advanced degrees, including his Ph.D. from M.I.T.

He lives with his wife Mary and two young children, Brandon and Evelyn.

The future of Andover depends on the broadest possible citizen involvement in town government, participation at Town Meeting on April 4th and voting in the town elections on March 28th at the High School gymnasium.

You will be voting for two vacant seats on the Board of Selectman. Please cast one of your two votes for me. Thank you.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barron of Andover recently presented a check in the amount of $12,777 to Ross Mauro, New England regional director for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. The check represents the proceed of the St. Jude Classic Golf Tournament, sponsored by Barron's Country Store last September at Wentworth by the Sea C.C. in Rye, N.H.

Mr. and Mrs. Barron have been long-time volunteers for the hospital that was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. They were present at the Sheraton Boston Hotel earlier this year when the organization celebrated the 25th anniversary of the hospital at its annual convention. The expansion of the facility and services of St. Jude Hosital were announced, the cost of which will top $105 million.

Mr. Barron says, "It's truly gratifying to be a part of what is going on at St. Jude's. Both Shirley and I are proud of the support we receive from all of our friends and neighbors that make the golf tournament possible."

THE TOWNSMAN, MARCH 24, 1988

Students Learn Democratic Process First-hand

By Julie M. Barry

On March 26, 1986 Andover High School ratified its own constitution. From that point on, elected students and faculty have been running the affairs of the school in a democratic fashion.

"I feel we've accomplished a great deal in two years — more than what I'd dreamed," said student government adviser Mike Marcoux. "Brookline and Andover are considered the forerunners in this area."

Better communication and increased student awareness are the major improvements after the new government went into effect, according to Marcoux, who says every meeting attracts about 300 to 400 kids. "The meetings give kids the opportunity to know what's going on," he said.

According to Marcoux, the school is still in the learning process, and it will take five to seven years for the students to get the most out of their new government. Ultimately, he says he wants to teach the students to lobby and encourage them all to participate and take advantage of their own power.

Panelists To Address Substance Abuse Survey

Everyone is invited to attend a house meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Collins Center. It's a great opportunity to see the high school student government in action.

The Andover High School Parents' Advisory Council is planning the program. It's specifically geared towards eighth- and ninth-grade students and their parents, who will have the opportunity to see how the student government operates on the high school level.

A panel discussion of issues raised in the recent townwide survey on substance abuse and adolescent problems will follow the half-hour meeting.

The panel will be composed of high school students, faculty members and one parent. They will review how the study was started, what it determined and the tremors it caused.

Students can get involved by joining any one of a number of subcommittees.

- The Student Activities Committee attempts to improve the level of student activities.

- The goal of the Academic Excellence Committee is to improve education and curriculum.

- The Building Committee strives to maintain and improve the physical appearance of the high school.

- An ad hoc committee has been organized to deal with the smoking issue. This is an area of concern because, starting September 1989, smoking will not be permitted in any Massachusetts schools.

Robert King, a faculty representative, says the system encourages students to participate in a subcommittee if they feel strongly about an issue. They learn to organize a presentation for a House meeting in order to relay their views.

Far From Home

AFS Student Gets Used To Breakfast Sausages, Other American Oddities

By Melissa M. De Meo

Andover is a long way from home for one Andover High School senior. Ana Olagaray of Mendoza, Argentina is spending a year in the United States through the American Field Service, which sends a student to a foreign country to live with its people, go to its schools and absorb its culture.

The catch is, the student has no control over where he or she will end up. "I wanted to go to Europe or here," Olagaray said. "What I was really insecure about was going into the Mediterranean. It made my parents nervous too. Sometimes they didn't want me to come; but they let me do what I wanted."

The culture shock started on the plane to the States in late summer. "We got a meal on the plane. They gave us thick pancakes and two sausages," she said. "I didn't know what it (the pancakes) was. I couldn't eat eggs for breakfast, and the sausage was too much. It was very strange."

When she got off the plane in Miami, people talked fast and expected her to understand. When she got to

New York for an orientation session at C.W. Post College, all the directions were in English.

After the session, Olagaray said, the students were divided according to the towns in which they'd be spending the next year. "They put us in buses. It was like cows."

Since the exchange program started in 1963, Andover High has hosted 37 students from 25 countries and has sent 50 students to 33 countries. The families the students live with are carefully screened by the AFS staff.

Olagaray's "host mother," Nina Asgeirsson of Holt Road, met her at the bus in Boston. "She looked very American to me," said Asgeirsson, describing her first impression of her visiting student. "She had on blue jeans."

The Asgeirssons were also surprised by how well Olagaray spoke English. "She says now, though, that she didn't understand everything we thought she was understanding. And that was the case when I was abroad," Asgeirsson herself was an AFS student to Germany.

Olagaray shares space with Asgeirsson and her husband, Asgeir, and their daughter, Joan, 17, an Andover High junior. The Asgeirssons' two sons are in college.

Olagaray found out who her host family would be nine months before she left Argentina. "I had an idea what they were like from letters that we wrote. I liked them when I met them," she said. "There are things always that we differ (on), but I really like them."

Mrs. Asgeirsson takes Olagaray and Joan to school on her way to work. American high school, like breakfast, took some getting used to. "I found the school big. We don't change rooms in Argentina. Here we have bells; everything is so calculated. The lockers, the books — it was scary."

There are certain classes that Olagaray, as a senior, is required to take: English, history, American studies. She also takes human anatomy and physiology and chorus. The English classes are tough because of the language, but Kathy Scanlon, one of Olagaray's American studies teachers, says she's doing just fine. "She is by nature a philosophy- and literature-oriented person," Scanlon said. "She makes comments constantly and expresses them in a very quiet and adult fashion."

There's a lot of reading in the class, Scanlon said. Olagaray said she read some of the books, like Mark Twain's Tom Sawyer, in Spanish. "That's a lot different. I like it more in English. The dialects — it loses a lot of spirit."

Olagaray said her English fluency gets better all the time. "When I read I notice that I'm understanding more. Some words I guess; others I know," she said. "I brought a Spanish-English dictionary here; now I have an English-English dictionary." She says she even dreams in English now.

Olagaray was surprised by how much time school takes up. In Argentina, students have seven classes between 8 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. with five minutes between them. There's no time scheduled for lunch: the kids eat when they get home. It also doesn't get dark until around 9 p.m. at this time of year. Here, Olagaray said, "School's so long, and the day's so short. We (Argentineans) don't center everything (around) school."

The high school Olagaray went to in Mendoza is a six-year school. Olagaray, 19, was a senior when she left tatives and the three administrators. They meet every two weeks to discuss school issues.

Student parking, study halls and levels of discipline for different offenses are some student handbook policies. The House has the power to change these policies.

But certain areas are beyond House control. They are state and federal laws, allotment of school department funds, collective bargaining agreements, administrative and teacher evaluations and classroom procedures and curriculum.

Although they can't directly affect those topics, House members can exercise influence through their recommendations. Marcoux said the House "becomes a forum for public discussion in areas they can't change."

The 10-page constitution includes election and voting procedures and an outline of the process for implementing changes. It also includes guidelines for amending the constitution and impeachment.

The six-member Steering Committee receives potential House action items and is responsible for preparing an agenda for House meetings.

A majority vote is required for all items to pass through the House. After a vote is taken, it is reviewed by the principal and may be vetoed within 10 days. The House may override a veto.

As of 1988, interest on an Andover Bank Equity Creditline up to $100,000 is fully tax deductible and the money may be used for any purchase or expense. For homeowners, that's the biggest news since the 1986 Tax Reform Act itself, because your Andover Bank Equity Creditline can be used for major purchases like a new car, college education, a dream vacation, or for unforeseen medical expenses—anything you wish. Most important of all, interest payments are fully deductible.

The chart above shows how a hypothetical consumer loan of $15,000 at an annual percentage rate (APR) of 10% will eventually generate no tax deduction at all. The same amount at the same 10% APR applied to an Andover Bank Equity Creditline may lower your taxable income by $1500 each year as long as you meet IRS requirements. Actual APR may vary.

Our Andover Bank Equity Creditline requires no application fees or legal fees. We offer payment plans to fit your needs and charge no prepayment penalty. For more information, call or visit one of our eight convenient Merrimack Valley offices soon. We think you'll agree that for major purchases, an Andover Bank Equity Creditline is the only smart way to borrow.

Special Ed Enters Computer Age

Editor's Note: This is the ninth article in a series of 11 concerning Andover's computer education plan written by Kenneth Kwajewski, computer education director for Andover schools.

The computer education plan recognized that students in special education programs can benefit from advancements in computer software and hardware.

Within the last few years, software developers have made progress in catching up to the technological improvements in hardware design. The use of animation, graphics, sound and improvements in pedagogical design has led to an increase in the use of software in education and particularly in special education.

Many programs are nothing more than glorified workbooks, but these programs can be of substantial benefit to students who have short attention spans, learning disabilities, behavioral problems and other physical and mental handicaps. These programs can be used by students who need the one-on-one attention that a computer software program can provide. In the hands of a skilled teacher, computer technology can be a powerful educational tool.

Mary French, director of special education for Andover's schools, agrees that computers can be valuable assistants for teachers and students. This year was the first time that many special education students had access to hardware and software. There are various levels in special education with students in differing educational problems placed in distinct programs, but computers can be used by all of these classes to help students learn. The computer plan calls for the increase of hardware components throughout the next two years to establish a proper ratio of students to computers. At the present time that ratio is approximately one computer for every eight students. An ideal ratio would be one computer for every two students.

One valuable resource of information for special education has been the Center for Applied Special Technology (CAST) in Peabody. This organization has provided data about hardware, software and the use of both with special education students. French explained that CAST has been used effectively by the schools to gain knowledge about computer use in special education. They can tell us which software programs can produce the most benefits with each type of learning style.

They can also be used to make recommendations about how a child can best use computer technology.

CAST can also provide information about advancements in hardware adaptive devices that can be used with students who have physical handicaps. French believes that this organization will continue to provide a valuable service in the years ahead.

Overseeing the implementation of computer technology in the schools are Donna Perkowski and Julie Parkhurst. Both help make recommendations about the computer software that will be used throughout the system. Most of the software used in the system is remedial. These programs can reinforce basic skills with the aid of appealing sound and graphics. These programs have been shown through documented research to improve a student's ability to gain and retain information. Perkowski explained that most of the programs are used to reinforce skills in language arts and mathematics. Parkhurst said computers are also being used by special education teachers to develop lesson plans and complete the many reports that are necessary in this field. Many teachers have taken inservice courses to learn how to use the computer as a word processing and data base tool.

Ruth Trepanier, special education teacher at Sanborn Elementary School, has used the computer extensively to improve her educational program. Students in her class react favorably to using the technology to learn and practice needed skills. Her students conducted a session for all teachers in the building in order to describe the various software programs they were using in class. This experience helped the teachers understand how the computer was being used with these special students.

Teachers Gwei Meins of Doherty Junior High School and Pat Thompson of West Elementary School have also used the computer effectively in their classes to excite students about learning. Both have used the appealing lure of software programs to reinforce basic mathematics and language arts skills.

Have Students Lost Their Right To Write?

By Jennifer Chunias

School administrators have the right to impose reasonable restrictions on student speech and newspapers, says the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision.

A 5-3 ruling gave school officials the right to suppress coverage of controversial issues. Although the ruling does not affect private schools because their administrators are not state officials, it is expected to have some impact on the future of college newspapers. In addition to all papers produced as part of a journalism curriculum, any student newspapers financed and supervised by public schools will fall under the new system.

The decision arose from a four-year-old suit by journalism students at Hazelwood East High School in Missouri. Students sued their principal, Robert E. Reynolds, because he deleted two stories from Spectrum, the student newspaper. Reynolds felt the articles dealing with teen pregnancy and divorce did not adequately disguise the sources' identity and contained material unacceptable for younger readers.

Andover High School Principal Wilbur Hixon agrees with the decision. "Some students claim the decision awarding censorship deprives them of rights they are granted in society. Yet in society, no newspaper is totally 'uncensored.' What journalist does not have to answer to an editor? What newspaper does not pick and choose appropriate articles?"

Kenneth Seifert says his views on the issue have not changed in the 19 years he has been superintendent of schools. "Every student should have a place to view his opinions free of censorship. However, the community must be aware that these views are the responsibility of one individual and do not necessarily reflect upon the newspaper, school or community."

Hixon now has the final decision on each article submitted to The Rock, Andover High's newspaper. "A newspaper should reflect the morals of a community and those who financially support its publication," he said.

To what guidelines should up-and-coming journalists adhere? When writing, Hixon advises, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you. Be sure each article is objective and 'intellectually honest.' Don't editorialize a news article."

Seifert said, "Each journalist should have the freedom to write on any topic. But when exercising this right, it is his responsibility to judge good taste and accuracy."

Hixon, who said he's often frustrated by media's abuse of its privilege, echoed these thoughts. "Journalism is a job with great responsibility, as well as the power of persuasion. Yet nothing is as powerful as the truth."

Marketing Students Head For National Competition In Utah

Three Andover High School students will be in Salt Lake City, Utah this spring for the National Development Career Conference. Junior Mike Smith and seniors Chris Geaghan and Holly Ruma will participate in the national marketing competition April 26 to May 1.

The students qualified when they placed in the state competition at the Sea Crest Hotel and Conference Center in Falmouth March 13-15. Smith was first in the category of full-service restaurant management; Geaghan, second in vehicles and petroleum; and Ruma, third in apparel and accessories.

Andover High students represented 27 of the 1,000 participants at the state level.

The trio who will be attending the national conference were among 19 marketing students who placed in the top 10 in their respective categories: Chris Workman, Jeanine Meckel, Cindy Sherry.

VOTE "NO" ON ARTICLE 101 AT TOWN MEETING!!

1. Article 101, if passed, would permit a commercial, 55-unit apartment complex and office space within a residential neighborhood.

2. We favor the historical rehabilitation of the Abbot Academy Campus. We oppose weakening Andover's zoning bylaws in order to accomplish it. We also favor the preservation of Andover's Historical Private Homes and Neighborhoods.

3. Article 101, if passed, could change the character and harmony of Andover's single residence areas forever.

American, Russian Students Exchange Fitness Tests

By Julie M. Barry

The Soviet Union, its distance and cultural differences, arouse curiosity among many Americans.

Fourth-grade students at West Elementary School have been given the opportunity to learn about their Russian counterparts. They are participating in the United States-Soviet Union Youth Fitness Testing Exchange Program. It is part of President Reagan's U.S.-U.S.S.R. cultural exchange initiative.

Students from the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. take the youth fitness test of the other country. West Elementary is one of 252 schools in this country participating in the exchange. All 50 states are expected to be involved, according to the organizers.

Arthur Iworsley, physical education teacher at West Elementary, is responsible for Andover's involvement. He says he read an article in a magazine last spring and sent away for information. Iworsley received notification in October that Andover could participate if the school was still interested.

Testing began in December. All three physical education teachers at West Elementary have been implementing the tests in their fourth-grade classes.

"It's really kind of fun because when we tell the kids, 'Right now, in a gym in Russia, kids are doing the test you did last year, and we're doing theirs,' they're all excited about it," Iworsley said.

Many of the test items are similar. Both country's tests include the shuttle run and pull-ups.

But Russian students also take some different tests. One is a target throw: students try to throw a tennis ball into a two foot square target that is six meters (approximately six and one-half yards) away. Another is an alternative to the United State's long jump. It's called the eight stride alternate jump. Students take eight long strides, and this distance is measured.

Test evaluation varies in the countries. The United States uses a percentile measurement and most of the awards are based on the average score of all the tests.

Russia evaluates each test individually. A student's performance is ranked in one of three categories: unacceptable, acceptable and outstanding.

School Participates In Spelling Bee

Doherty Junior High School seventh- and eighth-graders recently participated in initial rounds of the Scripps Howard National Spelling Bee being held throughout the Merrimack Valley.

Under the direction of Susan Hutchinson, with the assistance of John Givens, Kathryn Crawford and Dolores Laughlin, 17 contestants competed in the first round of competition.

Allen Soong, grade 8, emerged the winner and will move to the next round on April 14 when he competes in the sixth annual Eagle-Tribune Spelling Bee. The winner of this bee will be sent to the national competition in June.

Seventh-grader Tim Smith earned alternate status and would replace Soong if he were unable to participate.

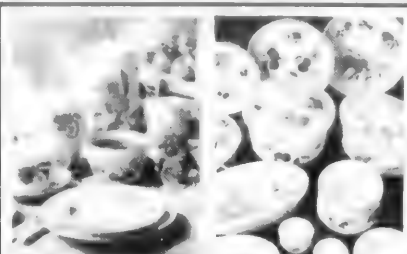

Other contestants were seventh-graders Colleen Murnane, Amy Novelline, Lisa Perdiagao, Lee Ryans, Julie Choe, Brian Lee and Alyssa Sonntag; eighth-graders Vanessa Dunaway, Adam Galaburda, Chris Marchetti, Julie Ring, Allan Stratton, George Haley, Kelly Kotkowski and Alaina Schroeder.

for the States. She hopes the school system accepts the credits she's earning at Andover High. Still, she'll be 20 when she starts college. "I'm going to start with my (younger) brother. That's a shame."

Her age makes a positive difference in class, Scanlon said. "Her background is an advantage. She's a little bit older, and I think her educational background is, in some ways, broader."

Olagaray plans to study medicine because she'd like to be a psychologist.

But not everything is academics for Olagaray, who takes an aerobics class and babysits after school. Sometimes she hangs around with friends. "I love Boston. Sometimes I go with friends, other exchange students," she said. "I have some good friends. I see some in school and on weekends."

Understanding is the key to AFS's success, according to Molly Ryden, Andover High's foreign student adviser. "Young people learn to accept each other," Ryden said. "The students certainly have to have a certain amount of courage. They're bound to get homesick, but they get to know themselves."

Olagaray said she misses her parents and 15-year-old brother, whom she talks to about once a month. She heads back home this summer. "People ask me if I would do it again or tell other people to, and I have to say, I don't know. It's so different for different people."

Fitness

To date, the students have completed the shuttle run and the stride jump test. Iworsley says students have performed well; everyone has at least scored acceptable. He says almost everyone got outstanding on the shuttle run, and the majority of students did outstanding on the stride jump.

Iworsley said Andover students perform above average in the U.S. physical fitness test too. The students have already finished the American test, Iworsley added. The exchange program is supplementary and incorporated into the fourth-graders' regular gym curriculum.

Andover's test results will be compared with Russian students, and with the other American students who participated.

The University of Lowell Center for the Performing and Visual Arts will sponsor a performance by the Peking Acrobats on Wednesday, April 6, at 8 p.m. in Lowell Memorial Auditorium, 50 East Merrimack St., in downtown Lowell.

Direct from the People's Republic of China, the Peking Acrobats perform magnificent feats of juggling, tumbling, contortionism and balancing.

Acrobatics is a Chinese folk art that has been carried on by generations of families for more than 2,000 years. Formed in 1952, the Peking Acrobats were an outgrowth of the Great China Circus popular during the 1920s.

Tickets are available at the auditorium, all Ticketron and Bostix locations or by telephone via Mastercard/Visa at the center.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Babies develop slowly. You can't expect a 6-month old baby to do what a 9-month old can. Each baby also grows at her own speed, so you can't expect your 6-month old to be exactly the same as other babies her age. Your baby might learn to sit up earlier than your neighbor's baby, but the other baby might crawl before yours. It's very important to accept your baby as she is. Every baby has a built-in drive to learn new skills. Therefore, this means that you should not feel you must teach your baby every thing.

THE TOWNSMAN, MARCH 24, 1988

Ellen Sullivan as Hildegard and Tim Plankey as Tumbleweed rehearse their lines. The love-stricken Hildegard tries to interest Tumbleweed throughout the show.

Old West Comes East

Merrimack Junior Theatre will present Tumbleweeds!, the musical spoof of the old West based on the famous cartoon strip.

The musical comedy, which will appeal to young and old, will be held at Doherty Junior High School's Memorial Auditorium this Friday and Saturday at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m.

The cast of 60 children, ranging from fourth- to eighth-graders, most of whom are from Andover, has been rehearsing since January.

"The kids had a great rehearsal (Sunday)," said director Josie Walker. "Quite frankly, the kids don't get nervous as much as they get excited. They get so excited knowing what's coming up."

The goal of the junior company is to help kids grow. "Learning through theater becomes a means to an end, which is a well-balanced child learning composure and self-confidence," Walker said.

Tickets for Tumbleweeds! are available at the door or through the Department of Community Services. For further information, call the DC's office.

Guild To Present Musical

The show, under the direction of Central Catholic English instructor Karen Moynihan of Methuen, chronicles sharpshooter Annie Oakley's rise to fame in Buffalo Bill's Wild West show. Tickets may be purchased from Central Catholic students or at the door.

A cast of 53 students from Central Catholic and Saint Mary High School in Lawrence, Presentation of Mary Academy in Methuen, St. Augustine's School in Lawrence, St. Augustine's School in Andover and St. Patrick's School in Lawrence includes Erin Murphy of Haverhill as Annie Oakley and Erik Marino of Newton, N.H., as Frank Butler. Other lead characters are Christopher Merrill of Lawrence as Buffalo Bill, Dawn Marie Gaivin of Lawrence as Dolly, Bruce Villineau of Lowell as Charlie Davenport, Scot Gabriel of Salem, N.H., as Chief Sitting Bull and Christian Fullerton of Haverhill as Pawnee Bill.

Roger and Betty Desjardins of Andover serve as technical directors and Judith Demers of Salem, N.H. is choreographer.

ISSUES AND ANSWERS

FOR A RIDE TO THE POLLS
On Election Day, Monday, March 28
Call: 470-1235

ISSUE: SCHOOLS

ANSWER: SOLID EDUCATION

We need to insure basic solid education in our schools. Education is the foundation of tomorrow's world and we cannot reject it. Our elementary schools are at capacity now. Most people stay in Andover or move here because of our quality of life and good schools. Even people without children benefit from good schools because the demand for Andover homes keeps up their real estate values. We all count on equity in our homes for medical emergencies, retirement, college tuitions, or security.

ISSUE: AFFORDABLE HOUSING

ANSWER: LOW DENSITY

We can do our part for affordable housing by addressing local needs, and plan for small scale, LOW DENSITY developments in appropriate locations without destroying neighborhoods and surrounding property values. We have to be careful of the impact on our schools and infrastructure. Comprehensive permits on the other hand disregard planning concerns and threaten the fabric of our neighborhoods. I will work to have the state law amended to return local control to the community.

ISSUE: UNRESPONSIVE GOVERNMENT

Many residents feel their town government is not responsive to their needs or ideas. They feel ignored and neglected.

ANSWER: ACCESSIBILITY

I believe residents should have the right to be involved in the governmental processes that affect their neighborhoods and their lives. One can't just exclude them or pretend they don't exist. I PLAN TO MAKE CITIZEN INPUT MY TOP PRIORITY.

ISSUE: DEVELOPMENT

Do we want to keep Andover a town known for its GOOD SCHOOLS and QUALITY OF LIFE, or are we willing to let it become a city with high rise apartments, overcrowded schools, high taxes and traffic congestion?

ANSWER: MASTER PLAN

I believe we want to keep Andover a town and retain our quality of life. This can be assured by developing an UPDATED MASTER PLAN that will strengthen our zoning, protect our neighborhoods and prevent future development from overtaxing our infrastructure and overburdening our schools. If we don't address the situation now, WE WILL BE FACING PROPERTY TAX INCREASES. THAT IS SOMETHING NONE OF US WANTS, AND SOMETHING THE ELDERLY AND PEOPLE ON FIXED INCOMES CANNOT AFFORD.

Famed Trumpeter Featured

Maynard Ferguson

Maynard Ferguson, virtuoso trumpeter, will bring his famous jazz sounds to the stage of the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts, Shawsheen Road, Andover, Saturday, March 26, at 8 p.m.

Once called the youngest bandleader in the '50s, he will appear with his newest Ferguson, in his forth decade as a bandleader, also plays the soprano saxophone, Superbone, Firebird, baritone horn and flugelhorn.

When asked how he feels about the constantly changing world of jazz, he answers, "I'm a person of change and I must be honest to my artistry and my creativity. That's part of the word, jazz...it's an adventure."

Ferguson has played at all the Newport Jazz Festivals and appeared with major orchestras across the country and Europe, touring nine months of the year.

One of his most celebrated moments was his critically acclaimed performance at the closing ceremonies for the 1976 Olympics from his native home in Montreal, Canada.

Scouts Attend Camp

Sanborn School's Brownie Troop 741 attended the Museum of Science Camp-in, a program for Girl Scouts and Brownies geared to spark girls' awareness to the world of science.

More than 400 Scouts participated in light optics workshops, delighted in a live animal demonstration, made thaumatropes (pictures drawn on two sides of a card and stapled to a straw or stick which creates a moving impression when spun back and forth), experimented with color and light and thrilled at a unique laser demonstration. After storytelling, the 20 Brownies and their seven chaperones from Troop 741 bedded down at 12:30 a.m. in the Theater of Electricity. The campers woke at 7 a.m. to break down their campsite, breakfast overlooking the Charles River and then onto see the lightning show, OMNI Theater where they soared through Boston and the Grand Canyon and the museum's Gift Shop for souvenirs.

The camp-in provides a science experience by allowing the Scouts to tour and explore exclusively the museum during the hours closed to the public.

Roast To Benefit ABC Program

Friends and colleagues of School Superintendent Kenneth Seifert are planning a roast in his honor.

Andover Superintendent of Schools Kenneth Seifert has agreed to be the subject of a "roast" Wednesday, May 11, at the Andover Marriott to benefit the Andover Committee for a Better Chance.

Seifert's 19 years at the head of Andover's schools almost duplicates ABC's 20 years. "He has been most supportive of our efforts," said Philip K. Allen, chairman of the fund-raising campaign. "We thought this would be an enjoyable way to honor him and at the same time help ABC."

William L. Lane, president of Bon Secours Hospital and former school committee member, will coordinate the roast. Among the speakers will be Dr. Dick Secord, friend and fishing companion; Isabelle Dobbie, retired Andover principal; Bill Flaherty, MASBO; Frank Griggs, former school committee member; Rep. Sue Tucker (D-Andover); Town Manager Ken Mahony; Dr. Larry Larsen, child psychologist and co-author; Dan Warner, editor of the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune; Richard Neal, School Committeeman; and son, Kevin Seifert.

ABC President Michael Arthur of Red Spring Road sees the roast as a high point in ABC's current capital fund-raising campaign. The campaign has currently raised about $155,000 towards a goal of $215,000 to repay money borrowed for renovation of the group's house at 134 Main St.

Andover ABC has housed, fed and supervised more than 80 students over the past 20 years, most of whom came from economically distressed areas of the South, mid-West and New York City area. The students—there are 10 this year—live at the ABC House and attend Andover High School for three years. Over the years, 85 percent have graduated from the high school and 92 percent of these have gone to four-year colleges.

Douglas Mitchell of High Plain Road and Bill Washburn of Temple Place are co-chairmen of the committee planning the roast. Other committee members are Margo Tilghman, Eileen Rogers, David Ahouse, Leonard Kent, Michael Frishman, Mary Bartow, Anne Wilde and Dale Edmands.

In a recent letter to The Andover TOWNSMAN, Edmands said of the superintendent, "I personally have had the opportunity to meet with Dr. Seifert on numerous occasions to discuss a broad range of social, economic and academic issues. During each of these encounters I was always impressed with his sense of propriety and sincere concern for the development of a sound educational environment for our children... I always came away from these meetings feeling elevated and inspired.

"Dr. Seifert's profound concern for the intrinsic moral and ethical development of the children of this community as they become the adults of tomorrow has always impressed me more than any national statistic or academic achievement record."

Reservations for the roast, which will include a pre-dinner buffet and cash bar, dinner and the program, can be made by contacting Bill Washburn, 3 Temple Place.

The board of directors of Visiting Nurse Association HomeCare have chosen Phebe Goldman of Denver to be the new executive director. It is announced by Alan D. Solomont, president of this near-century old community health services organization.

Goldman, a native New Englander and former resident of Andover, is president of the Colorado Association of Home Health Agencies and director of quality assurance of the Denver Visiting Nurse Association. She joins VNA HomeCare after serving the Denver community as a specialist in community health nursing since 1973.

"Phebe Goldman takes over the management responsibilities of VNA HomeCare at a critical time nationwide for health care funding," Solomont said. "However, her outstanding professional skills and management experience will help assure that quality care remains 'job one' and VNA HomeCare continues as a leading New England community health services provider."

Goldman has been a member of the board of directors of the Colorado Association of Home Health Agencies since 1983. Last year she served on the nominating committee of the National Association for HomeCare and is a member of the Colorado Nurses Association.

Goldman has a master's degree in public administration from the University of Denver and a BS degree in nursing from Columbia University and has served as a staff nurse at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital in New York before joining the Denver VNA.

VNA HomeCare, its hospice and HomeCare, Inc. affiliate serve the metropolitan Lawrence-Haverhill area, eastern Merrimack Valley, northeast Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire.

OUR TOWN MEETING!

Academy

Phillips clinched support from town hall this week by offering a compromise amendment to the town meeting article.

Academy officials culled the major concerns voiced by opponents to the plan at a March 8 planning board public hearing—density, parking and building additions—and addressed each one in offering a compromise package.

- Instead of 2,000 square feet per unit as originally called for, 3,500 square feet per unit will now be proposed.

- Neighbors feared a portion of the proposed bylaw change that permitted additions to the buildings could lead to large-scale add-ons. Academy officials amended the article language to ban any additions "except those required for handicapped and/or life safety purposes," said Neil Cullen, Phillips chief financial officer at Tuesday's planning board meeting.

- Off-street parking will be limited in accordance with existing Andover bylaws.

"Because of concerns raised (at the public hearing), we thought we might respond to these concerns by amending the language of Article 101," said Cullen.

The amendments may have changed the vote of at least one planning board member.

Russ Moran, who expressed some reservations over the article at the March 8 meeting, commented that "since I was the one who raised parking issues, I am glad to see this addressed (by the amendment).

"I am now willing to support the amendment," he said.

Micheal Houghton, planning board chairman, told Phillips' representatives the amendment was a "straightforward response to issues you've heard."

Ron Hill, a member of the group opposing the project who spoke against it at the selectmen's meeting, would not comment on the amendment.

Before voting for approval, Houghton told the audience that with density and traffic concerns addressed, "what the issue boils down to, in my mind, is that the use of the building is no more dense than for what it was originally used."

Abbot Hall was run as a school for girls from 1829 to 1973.

The planning board voted 3-0-1 to give their approval to the article. Carl Byers, who didn't attend the March 8 meeting, abstained from voting. Susan Stott, who refrained from participating in previous discussions because of a conflict-of-interest, was absent Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, interest among residents living in the neighborhood surrounding Abbot Hall seems to have decreased dramatically.

From an estimated crowd of 40 to 50 concerned citizens who appeared at the March 8 public hearing, attendance dwindled to the four or five residents who showed up at both the selectmen's and planning board meetings this week.

However, Hill, who has helped spearhead efforts to derail the Abbot project, said that the planning board's position on the article was well-known and group members "didn't see a real reason to be there."

Hill said that attendance at recent neighborhood meetings has remained high. "Support hasn't dwindled at all," he added.

Hill declined to be more specific as to when the meetings were held and how many residents showed up.

At the selectman's meeting, Hill detailed the group's objections.

Near the top of the list is their assertion that the bylaw change would open the door to spot-zoning.

The integrity of the zoning law would be compromised if apartment and condominium conversions were allowed in residential A zones throughout the town, he said.

Hill also spoke against what he called a commercial development

A testimonial well deserved.

I would like to take a few moments to compliment the Andover Townsman and in particular Michael Masessa for their expertise and high degree of professionalism. I have dealt with these people for years and have enjoyed the relationship. They possess a high level of integrity and are quite adept in their field compared to several of their competitors. Michael in particular has a great talent for his work especially dealing with people. He is a good listener and has acquired great skills regarding creativity and imagination when composing ads with our employees. Even the photographers at the Townsman have been most talented when challenged with difficult tasks during the creation of certain ads. It is truly a pleasure to do business with the entire staff.

Board Delays Tyer Building Conversion

By Frank Messina

Discussion at Tuesday night's Planning Board meeting over the conversion of the Tyer Rubber building into commercial and office space was delayed until potential traffic problems could be further investigated.

Several members of the board expressed apprehension over what would happen when traffic from 30,000 square feet worth of retail business and 17,000 square feet of office space converged at the sharp, angled corner of Main Street and Railroad Road.

What Bob Vanesse, a traffic engineer hired by project developer George Stern, proposes to solve the problem is simple: round off the corner.

Only one problem—Stern doesn't own the land. Under Vanesse's proposal, the quickest and easiest solution to traffic would have The Victor Company and the Professional Office Building giving about 43 parking spaces, with Professional's share set at 35.

"Obviously," said Vanesse, "we would need the property owners opinion" before trying to obtain the land.

What the developer is aiming for, he said, is to make the corner of Railroad and Main meet at a 90 degree angle.

The way the two streets are currently configured, entrance and exit are difficult for the small flow of traffic utilizing Railroad.

The board decided to wait until all parties concerned with the Victor/Professional parcels can be contacted along receiving with the project's cost figures and a completed traffic survey before taking a further look at the site plans.

In other action, the board turned down revisions to a preliminary subdivision plan for "Pleasant Street Estates" owned by Ernest Theodore.

Peter Ogren, an engineer hired by Theodore, told the board the town would benefit greatly from trading 2.7 acres of land near Pleasant Street and Haggets Pond Road for 11.69 acres of mostly wetlands that the town could preserve.

Town Planner Steve Colyer strongly urged the board to reject Theodore's proposal "for two main reasons," he said.

"Number one, because of conflict with existing open space," said Colyer.

According to the planner, Theodore has purchased land in the area and wants to reconfigure open space to form new boundaries in order to build several single-family dwellings.

Secondly, the project is not in the public interest, said Colyer, who questioned the potential benefits of a 11.69 acre chunk of "swampland". The area is currently protected by the Wetlands Conservation Act, anyhow, said Colyer.

Although Planning Board Chairman Micheal Houghton briefly mulled the possibility of making the trade, commenting that conservation laws might be loosened in the future, the board voted 4-0 against the subdivision plan revisions.

School Committee In Midst Of Budget Talks

By Julie M. Barry

The School Committee wrapped up the first round of budget approval. All accounts have been approved on a "first pass" basis and the bottom line school budget for next year is $20,386,389.

Following are the first pass budgets approved at the March 15 meeting.

- Transportation Account - $1,198,962
- Equipment Account - $237,179
- Teaching Account - $12,484,497
- Contingency Account (account for committee discretion) - $56,665

The budget for the equipment account includes all schools in the system. Needs among the different schools vary. Francis Paul, assistant superintendent for budgetary and financial matters, says the administration tries to fulfill all requests. "I feel it does address all the critical needs," he said.

Although the School Committee approved the allotted budget, they did express some reservations about where the money was being allocated. Committee member David Birnbach says he's hesitant about investing money in typewriters. He says it would be more worthwhile to invest in word processors because the schools are moving towards utilizing higher technology equipment. The committee shared Birnbach's concern.

Susan Poore, committee chairman, says her biggest concern is preparing the schools for the grade reorganization. She says the School Committee made a commitment to adequately staff, fund and equip the reorganization.

Poore says she wants "to ease this move into new reorganization." She says basic areas such as adequate locker space must be addressed.

Paul said he will reevaluate equipment needs and report back to the committee on March 29 with information about their concerns.

The School Committee approved the budget for the teaching account but they shared some concern about the request for hiring a gifted and talented teacher. The School Committee suggested that they want to establish a systemwide gifted and talented program consistent at every school. However, they engaged in an extensive discussion about whether hiring a teacher was the most effective way to start the program.

The administration is going to look at different alternatives for spending the money and will report back to the School Committee.

Crash Kills 1, Injures 3

A fatal car crash in Andover Tuesday morning resulted in one death and three injuries.

The car, driven by Stephen St. Jean, 19, of Methuen, crashed into a telephone pole on Beacon Street and then burst into flames.

Faith A. Raymond, 18, of Lawrence died in the crash. Raymond was so badly burned, police had to use dentist records to confirm her identity.

St. Jean suffered a broken ankle and cuts on his head and right hand. He is in good condition at Lawrence General Hospital.

The passengers in the car also suffered injuries.

Lawrence Council Endorses Collaborative School Project

A resolution endorsing the proposed Collaborative School, was approved by the Lawrence City Council Tuesday, March 1.

Dennis Richards, Collaborative School project director, said the City Council's support was conceptual. According to Richards, the school committees of Andover and Lawrence are still working on a final agreement for the proposed school. In turn, the final agreement must be approved by both Andover and Lawrence before the school can be built.

The resolution passed by Lawrence City Council contained four points.

- "The Collaborative School Project offers the communities of Andover and Lawrence the opportunity to enter a cooperative effort to create a genuinely innovative educational environment and.

- "The project would provide the teaching staff of both communities avenues to explore new instructional methods and the experience of teaching children of diverse socio-economic backgrounds; and.

CNS Supports Write-in Candidate

Andy Salazar, 58 Salem St., has launched a late write-in/sticker campaign for a three-year term on the School Committee.

The announcement was made last Thursday following the surprise withdrawal from the school committee race by incumbent David Birnbach. Salazar says his entry into the contest aims to prevent a "one choice" election. "People were disappointed with the timing of Birnbach's announcement," he claimed. "And a number of people were looking for a write-in alternate and I was motivated by the intensity of town support. The write-in process in Andover is an interesting one in that it is not possible for any candidate to be elected without the support of the voters. The father of three children lives in Andover.

LWV Voters' Guide To Town Elections

Get your pencils ready, because town elections are coming up. As a service to town voters, Andover's League of Women Voters presents its guide to the town elections Monday, March 28. The league's aim was to get the candidates to state their priorities and respond to an issue — and to present this information to Andover citizens in an impartial setting. Each candidate was asked to submit accurate biographical information and to respond to two questions. Candidates were given a strict word limit.

The LWV Voters Service Committee sent a questionnaire to each candidate for the Board of Selectmen, School Committee and town moderator. There are five candidates for two selectmen's seats and two candidates for the town moderator position. Three candidates are in the running for two openings on the School Committee, but write-in candidate Andy Salazar did not announce his candidacy in time for the LWV questionnaire.

The purpose of LWV is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government. The league does not support or oppose any political party or candidate.

Board of Selectmen

Andover entered into a partnership with the state to produce affordable housing. How do you feel this is working?

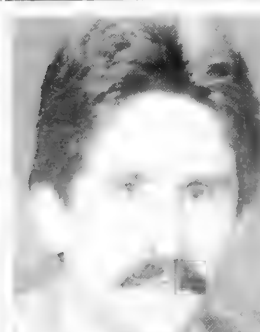

Do you believe in different tax rates for commercial/industrial property vs. residential property?

Jim Barenboim, 32, of 13 Bateson Drive, is a graduate of South Elementary, East Junior High and Andover High schools. He received a bachelor of science degree in business administration, cum laude, in 1977 from New Hampshire College. He is a marketing and sales representative for Pacific Paper Products, where he started working after graduating from college. He is a past director of Goodwill Industries, the Jewish Community Center and Temple Emanuel. He is president of and a 12-year volunteer with the Andover Civil Defense.

The problem with this partnership is that (neither) Andover nor the state produces affordable housing; developers do. Unless all three groups work together to achieve the common goal, affordable housing will be at best a very slow reality. The Andover Housing Partnership Committee has done an outstanding job in getting the partnership rolling. However, the state has left so many loopholes in the rules and regulations, that many unscrupulous developers are taking advantage of this situation and creating many hard feelings among the town's residents.

I believe in fairness to all taxpayers in Andover. Let us not forget that commercial/industrial property has always been taxed higher than residential property. By voting for "tax classification," in effect what we are doing is voting to have classification on top of classification, or a 15 percent surcharge. Most of the commercial/industrial property owners are not residents of Andover and do not have the right to vote on this issue. This is not fair. However, to eliminate tax classification now would create a hardship to so many residents, especially senior citizens.

George Danneman, Jr., 34, of 52 Jenkins Road graduated from Babson College in Wellesley in 1974 with highest distinction and a bachelor of science degree in business administration. He was vice president of Control Mortgage Co., a member of Lombard Savings Bank of Lowell.

I feel the partnership concept is not working because the residents were left out of the process. Town Meeting never voted to join the Massachusetts Housing Partnership, nor did it ever vote to support using comprehensive permits to achieve affordable housing. Yet the town administration has been in fact supporting developers in comprehensive permit applications while at the same time telling neighborhoods and residents they could do nothing to stop them. This is wrong. We can achieve housing goals openly and honestly through an updated master plan.

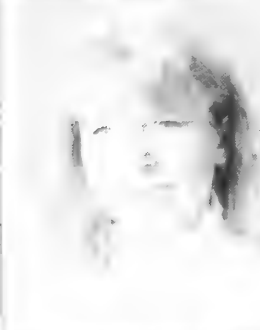

I believe we should charge commercial and industrial taxpayers a rate 10 to 15 percent higher than residential. Tax classification should be used to stabilize actual tax bills because we must re-appraise all property every three years. There can be great discrepancies between residential and industrial reappraisals causing either residential or industrial actual tax bills to soar upward. By freezing the industrial tax rate up or down when property is re-appraised, the actual tax bills all or as have to pay are stabilized. Free tax classification is a good law.

Edward L. Martin of 9 Knollcrest Drive is a graduate of the University of Lowell, where he received a bachelor of science degree of Salem State College where he received teaching and counseling certification, and of Anna Maria College in Worcester, where he earned a master's degree in criminal justice. He has been a police officer in Tewksbury since 1974 and a lieutenant since 1981. He is an officer of the Tewksbury Superior Police Officers' Association and a member of the Andover Town Democratic Committee.

First, I believe that there is a need in Andover for affordable housing. With rising costs of land and materials it is almost impossible for people who live in Andover to stay in Andover. In most cities and towns in the commonwealth the only way to achieve affordable housing is to obtain outside assistance. The state, while its program is succeeding in its objective, must be aware that towns must exercise more input in the decision-making process before these projects are undertaken.

The property tax rate structure for commercial/industrial vs. residential should be different because the needs and services are different. Industry generates specific concerns that utilize town services more so than single family homes. While many employees who work in Andover do not live in Andover, they enjoy the protection of our police and fire departments and travel our roads, maintained by our Department of Public Works. Andover has welcomed industry for employing its citizens and broadening its tax base.

Gail Ralston of 60 Chestnut St. has a degree in political science with an emphasis on local political administration. She was appointed to the Board of Selectmen last May to fill a vacancy. Currently liaison to the Planning Board, School Committee, Council on Aging and Senior Opportunity Panel, Ralston is active in community organizations, including the Andover Historical Society, Central Andover Residents Association, League of Women Voters and Andover Theatre Company.

With the state's recent decision to award funding to Brookside Estates at a level in conflict with the recommendation of two boards — the Selectmen and the Housing Partnership Committee — the concept of "partnership" seems not to exist, and the amount of true local control is clearly in question. A situation such as this leaves no alternative but to petition our legislators for a change in the law. This process can be effective only with local control and, ideally, when the town identifies potential sites and develops its own RFPs.

This year, as a selectman, I voted to support tax classification at the present 15 percent rate. My decision was based on the actual impact — an average decrease in commercial property taxes and a controlled increase in residential taxes. Feedback from residents revealed that a further increase would have critical implications on basic necessities. Opinions of business persons whom I solicited did not reveal strong opposition but a realistic understanding. I perceived a situation where business interests were getting a break and residents were getting some help.

Dr. Lawrence S. Spiegel of 76 Holt Road has 26 years of experience in community service. In 1967 he was recognized with the Andover Chamber of Commerce Community Service Award. He is chairman of the Municipal Building Re-use Committee, the Development and Industrial Commission and the Industrial Development Financing Authority. He is also a commissioner of the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission. He chaired the Andover Growth Policy Committee in 1973 and the Master Plan Task Force on Development.

The relationship of the Andover Housing Partnership and the commonwealth is dictated by the 1969 Massachusetts Chapter 274 "Anti-Snob" Zoning Act, which gives developers enormous power to override town zoning bylaws by granting comprehensive permits to build high-density housing if subsidized affordable housing is part of the plan. Although the program can be unpleasant and disruptive to affected neighborhoods, I feel the AHP has worked well with town boards and neighborhood groups. Andover's appeals have been upheld more than was expected.

I believe all property owners should pay taxes on actual real estate values. Because industrial and commercial land and buildings are assessed higher than residential, they are naturally taxed higher to reflect their greater value. Adding an arbitrary increase to industrial and commercial real estate taxes, at this point in Andover development, seems unfair because their demand on town services is less than that of home owners — e.g., schools, public safety, rubbish removal, recreation, senior citizen and health services.

School Committee

What is your position on the Andover-Lawrence Collaborative School project?

How would you address the long-term space problems in Andover schools?

Michael Frishman of Shawsheen Road is a member of Andover High School's Class of 1960. He attended Columbia College in New York for three years. He was an editor for The New York Times from 1964 to '81. Since then, he has been at home as a self-employed editor/writer/photographer for such publications as newsletters for the Textile Museum and Gillette and a volunteer in many community activities. He is involved in the A Better Chance as a host, board member and officer. He is on the publicity task force of the Andover-Lawrence Collaborative School project and board member and president of the Friends of Memorial Hall Library. Frishman is also a member of the Gifted and Talented Parent Advisory Committee for West Elementary and the town.

I, as a private citizen, am an unabashed supporter of the Andover-Lawrence Collaborative School project, and as such answered one of the early requests to participate in the planning of the school. I believe that it will provide an exceptional academic opportunity for its students and that it would become an invaluable educational resource for the entire Merrimack Valley. As a citizen of Andover or as a member of the Andover School Committee, I would be pleased to continue the hard work needed to make the Collaborative School a reality and a success.

Andover schools need a master plan that coordinates real schedules for all aspects of the system: curriculum, staffing, configuration — I would favor full-day kindergarten; space needs — including adequate space for specialists, to name just a few areas. The master plan is needed soon so the School Committee and the town know what is coming and when we must act. Public input must help decide such specific questions about space as: do we enlarge present buildings or build at new sites (I generally favor fewer sites); do we include the K-2/3 primary configuration that I was involved in proposing?

Susan T. Poore of 85 Osgood St. is current chairman of the School Committee. An Andover native, Poore graduated from Andover High School and Bradford Junior College and received a bachelor of science degree in education from Lesley College. She is a legal assistant in an Andover law firm and a law student. Poore served two terms on the Board of Selectmen and was the board's first woman chairman. Poore, who has 12 years experience as an elected official, is seeking her third term on the School Committee.

I am opposed to the Collaborative School project, although philosophically, I can see the merits of attempting to blend the populations of urban and suburban communities. As a member of the School Committee, I voted in favor of the application for the grant to study the proposal. At this time, the preliminary results of that study do not indicate an adequate resolution of many of the practical issues surrounding this proposal.

Adequate facilities housing both the students and educational programs has been a continuing concern of mine. I encourage support of the School Committee article asking for planning funds. If approved, this article provides a study committee with funds to analyze the current physical plant, population projections and to present the School Committee with its findings and recommendations. I would suggest that those interested in all aspects of our school system participate in the study committee meetings. It is also important to be aware that the current School Committee preparation of the master plan will dictate the overall direction of the ultimate direction of the school system and its facilities.

Town Moderator

How would you improve Town Meeting?

What do you see as the role of town council during town meeting?

James D. Doherty of 9 Juniper Road is an Andover native and was educated at St. Augustine's School, Punchard High School and Boston College. He joined the real estate and insurance business with his brother, Bill, in 1937 and has been there ever since. Over several years, Doherty was successively playground supervisor, director of summer recreation and chairman of the Recreation Committee. He is also a member of the Land Acquisition Committee. He has been town moderator over the last decade and hasn't missed a Town Meeting, except during his service in the Army Air Corps, from 1942 to '46.

For several years I have felt that people moving into town from large cities or from outside New England — unaccustomed to the town meeting form of government — fail to appreciate fully what we have. More people — and not just those who have a single interest or issue in mind — should put in the time to participate in the process of self-government. Too many of our citizens take no interest in the process. Self-government is time-consuming, but it is also priceless. We should all take an active interest — not just attending the Town Meeting sessions, but taking the time to become acquainted with the entire process.

Town council is the local office of the town. It serves as the executive arm of the town meeting and is responsible for the day-to-day running of the town.

John Doyle, 63, of 40 Reservation Road is a professional modelmaker, artist and photographer specializing in architectural, engineering and developmental projects. He participated in the New York Urban Development Corp. project, the Washington, D.C. sewage treatment plant, Bank of Boston building, Don Bosco Technical High School and others. He is also a pilot, designer and constructor of aircraft and a published authority on aviation. He is on the board of directors and past president of the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Society. From 1974 to '83, he was a member of the Andover School Building Committee Resource Bank and earned the award as "person most instrumental in establishing the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts."

I would conduct the Town Meeting with scrupulous impartiality; increase voter participation by encouraging the members to speak; conduct standing votes in an open manner, so that the voters can follow and participate fully in the process; facilitate the progress of the meeting by insisting that no one speaks before being properly recognized and that no one exhibits other inappropriate behavior that interferes with our deliberative democratic process; banish intimidation of the voters that has been so prevalent in the past; dispel the "us vs. them" atmosphere by guaranteeing to everyone equal access to the microphones.

There are not two individuals with equal status at Town Meeting — the moderator and the town clerk. There are no private or privileged (giving town council) or official (giving out at Town Meeting) privileges available to the voters. Everyone is equal. I see no reason for this. I intend to become an active participant in Town Meeting. The town council is the executive arm of the town meeting. It is the responsibility of the town clerk to make sure that all of the town council members are present at Town Meeting whenever necessary.

OPINION

THE TOWNSMAN, MARCH 24, 1988

Let's Lend Support

For the first time in several years, Andover will be having a town election this year.

Elections here have been rather dull of late, with either no contests at all, or only token opposition offered incumbents.

This year, there are five people running for two seats on the Board of Selectmen, two seeking the moderator position and at least three attempting to gain a ruling voice on the school committee.

Hopefully, this interest in serving municipal will be rewarded by a good turnout by Andover voters on Monday between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. at the Dunn Gymnasium, the town's single polling place.

Why vote?

Well, discard the age-old admonition that it is a municipal and democratic duty. Everyone should recognize that.

Fact of the matter is there is interest by a number of people who have been conducting a decent campaign these past several weeks expressing to all who would listen their views on municipal subjects.

They are, indeed, worthy of consideration by those who have the opportunity to cast their ballots on Monday.

There are other factors.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony is currently under consideration for a position in state government. Should he be offered the position and accept it, there will be the matter of finding a replacement, which is a responsible task for selectmen.

There is the matter of housing issues which, while they have no direct bearing, selectmen still must address.

The overall direction of policy, which is the principal task of selectmen, and the overseeing of the town manager's administrative duties also falls within the province of the members of the board.

Each of the candidates has addressed these matters, and the only response to how people feel is to take the time Monday to cast a ballot.

As for the School Committee, the race there was placed in a curious position through the late decision of Committeeman David Birnbach to not be a candidate for re-election. His name remains on the ballot since it was printed, and also because he did not indicate in sufficient time that he would not seek a return to office.

His reasoning that he will be pursuing an advanced degree at M.I.T. and would not have sufficient time to serve seems to be a very late decision. Assuredly he was aware of his plans long before last week, but chose to wait until then to make the decision.

What has happened since then is the emergence of a sticker candidate to challenge the two other candidates for the two seats available. Sticker candidates have a difficult time due to the inconvenience of the so-called 'write-in' process.

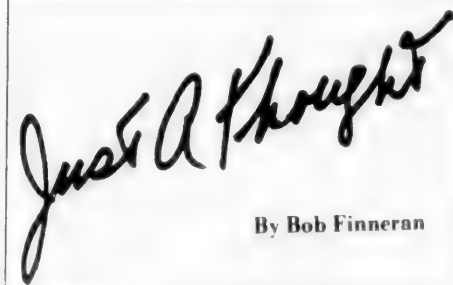

But, here, too, is an important office for the town to consider as the school board examines the possible consideration of the Lawrence-Andover Collaborative School as part of the total Andover educational picture. And, the school system itself needs the attention of capable persons to oversee the public education program and its developing master plan and possible future construction.

As for the moderator position, it is the first time in a number of years that there has been a contest, but both candidates are interesting and deserving of the decision which only the electorate can render.

Don't let this be a simple activity on the political front here in the next few days.

That should be rewarded by a good turnout on Monday, since the decision made will have a far-reaching effect on the town and its future.

Let's take the time to make that decision.

By Bob Finneran

The Massachusetts legislature is just wonderful.

There is a move afoot to have our solemnly sworn elected officials be graced with a swimming pool in order that they might exercise and relieve tension.

Just to clarify things immediately, the proposal has been put forth by a Rep. Thomas Finneran of Dorchester, who appreciatively is no relation. But can you imagine these people, most of whom don't do much until the legislative session runs down, having their own pool to enjoy year 'round?

Let's face it, how much legislation would be worked on if our Sue Tucker decided to suit up and try a few backstrokes in the Mass. State House aquarium.

Frankly, if one remembers the way such things as Halloween is celebrated at the State House, whereby trick or treat is observed by pushing through a pay raise, there seems to be enough perks to the job already without the tank.

Interesting isn't it that the state has ordered no parking on North Main Street, either side from Shawsheen Plaza to Route 495.

But, there is parking available, not in the immediate area, but a little distance from Shawsheen.

Seems the state has begun work on reconstruction of Route 495 from around the Lawrence-Andover line to North Andover, thus making a parking lot out of the interstate.

The section is replete with the beautiful orange barrels and Jersey barriers, placed in such a position that when you jockey for a travel lane, be prepared for the idiot trailer driver bearing down on your right, because he's not stopping or slowing down for anything.

Ah, wonderful Massachusetts. Build it, then immediately begin correcting or repaving it.

This is the time of year when one yearns for the return of the dump on Chandler Road.

There were more people elected there on a Saturday than anywhere else.

So there are 'Koffee Klatches,' candidates forums, Saturday morning campaigning on Main Street, but nothing compared to being at the Andover dump on Saturday to pump hands and extend greetings.

From town constables to national office holders, Saturday morning of an election period meant being at the Andover dump on Saturday.

Former Congressman Brad Morse of Lowell would bypass a White House meeting just to be there.

So much for environmental concern and rejection of the true Democratic process.

Rewriting Zoning Laws

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Phillips Academy's proposal to convert Draper Hall to a 55-unit commercial apartment complex requires that the zoning bylaws of this town be rewritten. If successful, 50,000 sq.ft. buildings in Single Residence B zones in the Town of Andover shall become eligible for conversion to multi-family housing. A "No" vote at Town Meeting on Article 101 insures that the residential character of our neighborhoods will be preserved.

Phillips Academy threatens the town with the potential loss of Draper Hall if this article does not pass. Save Abbot, they say. Save Abbot from whom? The only threats to Abbot buildings have come from Phillips Academy. As part of its two previous commercial proposals for the property, P.A. was prepared to raze all or part of Draper Hall to suit their projects.

The academy is unwilling to spend any of its endowment to save Draper Hall. Instead, so that they can commercially develop Abbot and not pay out a cent of their own money, they expect this town to endanger our equally as precious endowment, which is the integrity of our zoning bylaws and the stability of our residential neighborhoods.

I am as opposed to the detrimental rezoning of a residential neighborhood as I am to the destruction of Draper Hall. It is with equal zeal that we must guard our historic buildings and our zoning bylaws. To sacrifice one for the other is shortsighted and unconscionable. Each zoning change opens the door that much wider for the next proposed rezoning. This continued erosion of our residential neighborhoods to accommodate commercial developers must be stopped.

Phillips Academy's charter and its not-for-profit status is based on education and not business. As the finest secondary prep school in the nation, let them continue to do what they do best, which is to educate youth from every quarter. Let them restore the Abbot buildings and utilize them within the constraints of their original and real purpose: education.

A rezoning modification and a plan of the academy to preserve the town's residential character of its neighborhoods and the "No" vote at Article 101.

Mary Jean M. Myers
34 School St.

Supporting Article

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

We live at 25 Abbot St., directly across from the Maple Walk on the Abbot campus. After meeting several times with our neighbors and listening carefully to neighborhood concerns and after meeting with Phillips Academy officials and listening carefully to Phillips' proposal, we are supporting Article 101.

We believe that Article 101 is not spot zoning, but instead adaptive re-use of a 50,000-square-foot building which no longer fills an academic need for Phillips Academy. Since Draper Hall is not new construction and since we have been assured of no new exterior construction to Draper Hall and since all other 50,000-square-foot buildings in RB2 are either owned by the Town of Andover or by Phillips, we are not concerned in this situation about setting a precedent on commercial development in a residential RB2 neighborhood.

Furthermore, the conversion of the present Draper Hall will be controlled by the Andover Board of Appeals, Massachusetts Historical Commission and the National Park Service. Finally, the Town of Andover has already endorsed such adaptive re-use when Sacred Heart School as converted to multifamily use.

The historic Abbot building and their adjacent park-like surroundings enhance the School Street, Abbot Street and Phillips Street neighborhood and, ultimately, the whole Andover community. We want this visual gem preserved for future generations and we believe that town and neighborhood will not be offered a better alternative.

We ask for your support of Article 101 at Town Meeting.

Margot and George Bixby
25 Abbot St.

Modifications Proposed

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

In view of the concerns expressed by some Andover citizens at the public hearing of the Planning Board's public hearing on March 8, 1988, regarding some sections of Warrant Article 101, I would like to advise your readers that Phillips Academy will propose specific amendments to the Town Meeting to address these concerns. More specifically, the proposed modifications would require:

a) 1,000 square feet of lot area per dwelling unit rather than 2,000 square feet as originally proposed,

thus assuring more open land for any proposed project;

(b) No exterior additions or extensions except those required for handicapped and/or life safety purposes, thus assuring that exterior appearances remain essentially the same;

(c) Off-street parking in accordance with Section IV.A. of the Andover bylaws, thus assuring appropriately placed and landscaped surface parking.

The academy's historic preservation plans for the former Abbot campus can conform to these additional constraints. I urge all Andover citizens to vote yes on Article 101 as amended to enable Phillips Academy to restore the three Abbot Circle buildings and to preserve the open land at Abbot and School Streets.

Neil H. Cullen
Chief Financial Officer
Phillips Academy

Need More Options

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

In talking to a number of people about the proposed zoning bylaw change which would allow the Abbot Academy buildings to be renovated and made into commercial apartments and two office buildings, I have noticed that there appears to be two schools of thought on this proposal. The first school of thought appears to be that the Abbot buildings should be renovated, almost regardless of the cost or the impact. The second school of thought appears to be that the zoning bylaws should not be changed, especially in this way. What I find interesting in this is that virtually nobody wants to tear down the Abbot buildings and almost nobody thinks that the zoning bylaw modifications will be good for the Town of Andover.

What I think we need in this whole situation are more options to look at and consider before we make such a big step and modify our zoning bylaws.

There is a fear that some people have that, if this article does not pass, the Abbot Academy buildings will be torn down. Quite frankly, I don't happen to believe that would happen.

We have been put into this situation by the board of trustees of Phillips Academy who have decided that Phillips Academy cannot sell the land and also cannot invest any money in the renovation of the buildings. I cannot fault Phillips Academy for trying to renovate the buildings in this way as a fellow businessman. I can understand the benefits of trying to optimize their financial return in this project.

However, that does not make it the right choice for the townspeople of Andover.

I would like to see Phillips Academy come up with five or six new options that would renovate the Abbot Academy buildings without requiring any zoning changes. These options may cause Phillips Academy to invest some of their funds in the renovation of the buildings, but I feel that it is their duty to do so. It is not the responsibility of the town to change our zoning bylaws to suit their preferences.

David Sand
17 Abbot St.

Density Limited

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

I am writing to support Warrant Article No. 100 limiting the density in the Champy/Shetland, town-sponsored, affordable housing site. We were promised at last year's meeting that by voting for the article, we would be able as a town to control how the site was developed including the density. On all the comprehensive permits filed, the main problem has been that the affected neighborhood wanted a lower density. If we go beyond four units per buildable acre, we will be doing the same thing to our neighborhood in Shawshen as developers have done to other areas of town. Most new construction of one family houses is in a 3/4 acre or full acre lot. We would be putting three to four times the density on this site. I feel this is enough. If we raise the density level, we will overtax our infrastructure, overburden our elementary schools and create more traffic congestion in an already highly trafficked area. Four units per buildable acre allows the chosen developers a fair profit without ruining the neighborhood. I urge fellow residents to send Town Hall and developers a signal that we want affordable houses, but we want it done right and aren't willing to settle for anything less.

John A. Hess
5 Liberty St.

Historians Approve

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The Andover Historical Commission has voted unanimously to support Article 101 as it appears in the town warrant. There is no question that the preservation of the Abbott Academy buildings and open spaces is of paramount importance to protect Andover's historical assets. It does not appear the proposed use of these buildings would have any detrimental effect on the neighborhood. It would seem, if anything, the neighbors' property values would be enhanced. The Zoning Board of Appeals must also approve the Abbott project which further protects its neighbors. Rental housing within walking distance to Andover's retail shops, doctors, dentists, etc. most certainly makes a lot of sense.

Historians

Let us hope our town citizens come to Town Meeting and vote to preserve our heritage by supporting Article 101.

John D. Lewis
Chairman
Andover Historical Commission

Correction

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Our letter to the TOWNSMAN last week unfortunately was printed with several key phrases missing in the closing sentences. The letter, which was written in approval of the Phillips Academy proposal for the renovation of the Abbot campus, should have closed with the following two paragraphs:

"We agree that zoning bylaws should be changed only with great care and study. As two citizens most affected by the immediate impact of this change and who have given it careful study, we strongly encourage our neighbors and fellow citizens of Andover to pass Article 101 with its required 2/3 majority at town meeting. A positive vote at town meeting opens the door to a process over which we, as neighbors and townspeople, have a great deal of control. A negative vote opens the door to the many ways in which Phillips Academy can develop this land using processes over which we have little control.

The Abbot Academy campus can be an ornament to the town, as it once was. We strongly support this proposal in order to make that dream come true."

Thank you for printing this correction.

Hockey Teams Wrap Up

Varsity, JV Seasons

The Andover High School hockey season ended Tuesday, March 8 with its annual breakup banquet, sponsored by the Hat Trick Club, the Hockey Boosters' organization. The banquet honors varsity and junior varsity players and cheerleaders for their efforts during the season.

Junior Varsity Coach Ralph Quaglietta made the award presentations to the JV team. The most improved player was Greg Afarian; unsung hero, goalie Michele DiStefano; most valuable player, Michael DiStefano.

The JVs had a fine season and finished around .500. This year's players are sophomores Gary Bleszinski, Michele DiStefano, Will Dunning, Sean Gill, Jim Morris, Eric Patterson, Steve Pouliot, Steve Schmidt, Mike Shea; freshmen Greg Afarian, Chris Cashman, Sean Darwin, Mike DiStefano, Dave Driben, Tim Fox, Don Fraser, Joe Howard, Mike Muonane, Kevin Smith, Tim Sullivan, Ed Thistle and Mike Walsh.

Varsity Coach Charlie Donovan made presentations to his team. Voted most improved was Matt Pothier; unsung hero, Rob Stoltz; and most valuable player, captain Hugh Maginnis.

Next year's captains were also named. Matt Pothier will be captain, and Andy Weiner, assistant captain.

After making the state tourney two years ago, and just missing by a point last year, this year's team had a tough season, ending up at 4 wins, 13 losses and 3 ties. Six of the losses, however, were by one or two goals.

Three players were voted to the Merrimack Valley Conference Large School All-Star Team. They are Maginnis, Stoltz and goalie Tim Smith. Maginnis (18 goals, 26 assists, 44 points) ended up among the top five scorers in the division. His linemates, Stoltz (19 goals, 17 assists, 36 points) and Pothier (16 goals, 17 assists, 33 points) ended in or close to the top 10.

Maginnis, Stoltz, Smith, as well as other seniors Lou LoPresti (7-4-11), assistant captain Chris Patten (2-5-7) and defenseman Pete Trede (1-3-4) will surely be missed.

An excellent crop of juniors and sophomores will be returning with that invaluable year of varsity experience under their belts. The returning defensemen are juniors Andy Weiner (3-9-12), David Sopp (1-8-9), Chip Stella (1-8-9) and Chris McAnally; and sophomores Todd Roycroft and Marc Ruskin. Forwards who will be playing again next season are juniors Matt Pothier, Doug Bleszinski (2-3-5) and Jack Dalton (2-1-3); and sophomores Brent Raftery (9-7-16), D.J. Camarota, Frank Money and Randy Moneau.

The goaltending duties were split this year between senior Tim Smith and sophomore Ed Owens. Both played exceptionally well and faced quite a few shots during every contest. Owens will be returning as the heir apparent starting goaltender.

Rosemarie Grams, who coaches the cheerleaders, along with the varsity team's captain and assistant captain, presented letters and awards to this year's cheerleaders. They are captains Lisa Beggan and Jenn Bardetti, Nicky Champaigne, Kellyann MacLean, Sharon Driscoll, Lara Connerty, Amy Cooper, seniors: Stacey Ala, Pam Wagner, Cara Workman, Laura Fallon, Lisa Rita, Kara Lavasseux, juniors: and sophomore Monika Wade.

At this year's banquet, Andover was fortunate to have as guest speaker Joe Bertagna. Bertagna, the Boston Bruins goalie coach and former Harvard University and Arlington High School goaltender, shared his thought-provoking comments on the game of hockey and the current controversy surrounding the sport in high school.

At right, cheerleading captain Jenn Bardetti finishes up another season.

The Merrimack Junior Warriors won a pair of games last week with wins over Dracut 37-23 and St. Monica's Gold 26-23. The Andover boys improved their record to 10-3.

Chad Bowman netted 6 in the Dracut game, J.J. McCormick had 5, John Bowman, Tim Connors, Eric Danis, John Donovan and Frankie Paone, 4 each and C. J. Dadd, Greg LeBreck and Bobby McKertich 2 each. McCormick and Donovan controlled the boards and Danis and Paone played an aggressive defense.

Bowman sparked the offense in the St. Monica win with 8 points, Connors had 6, McKertich 5, Lebreck 4 and Paone 3. However, it was Connors heroics in the final seconds when he tossed in a 20-foot shot that iced the game.

Freshman Is Top Racer

by the United States
Ski Association.,

As a participant in the New York Junior 1 championships at Lake Placid, N.Y., Walsh swept both technical events and was invited to the Eastern Junior 1 championships. A seventh and eighth place finish in slalom at Haystack, Vt., and a third and fifth in giant slalom at Mt. Snow earned her a seed in the National Junior 1 championships to be held at Bend, Ore., March 13-19.

A liberal arts student, Walsh is a 1987 graduate of Andover High School where she was captain of the field hockey team. She also attended Mt. Snow Academy in West Dover, Vt., and competed on national and international levels during the last four years.

Alpine racing is one of 28 intercollegiate varsity sports at Saint Lawrence University and one of two division 1 programs.

Saint Lawrence University freshman Katie Walsh was the top alpine racer on the university's Division 1 ski team this season.

The Saints, coached by John Weitz, competed against the University of Vermont, Dartmouth, Williams, Cornell, University of New Hampshire, Middlebury, Bates, New England College and Keene State.

Walsh was consistently in the top five at the six winter carnivals and has been invited to compete in the N.C.A.A. Division 1 championships in Vermont this month.

At the start of the season, she was named to the New York State Alpine team in the technical events and was ranked ninth (giant slalom) in the east

Audi Introduces New Models

1988 Audi 80 Quattro

Audi of America, Inc., is introducing two brand-new vehicle lines with its 1988 Audi 80, 80 Quattro and Audi 90 and 90 Quattro models.

These are the first new automobiles Audi has introduced in America since 1983. With them, Audi enters a new strata of performance European automobiles. They incorporate significant developments in aerodynamics, powertrain, ergonomics and luxury and adopt the European 80 and 90 nomenclature. The 1988 Audi 80 succeeds the highly acclaimed and successful Audi 4000 series. The sporty Audi 90 series will compete directly with Europe's new lines of sports sedans. The Audi 90 offers levels of luxury and appointments comparable to the Audi 5000 but available in a smaller, sportier package.

Audi also is introducing its 1988 5000 series which includes the Audi 5000S Quattro introduced in mid-1987. These luxurious European sedans set a new industry standard for aerodynamics when they were introduced in 1983. Today, the styling is still very modern and aerodynamically efficient. Its much-copied design successfully reduces interior noise, while improving fuel efficiency and road manners.

The new Audi 80 and 90 models feature a newly developed five-speed manual transmission. It is virtually maintenance-free with a lifetime fill of synthetic gear lubricant which reduces internal friction and power loss. For the driver, shifting is light and precise thanks to short shift travel and relocated shift selector pivot points.

An advanced four-cylinder 2.0-liter engine was developed for the Audi 80 and Audi 90 automatic models. It has a 0.2-liter increase in displacement over the previous four-cylinder engine thanks to a larger bore and longer stroke. It produces 108 horsepower (SAE Net) at 5,300 RPM and an impressive 121 foot pounds of torque at 3,200 RPM.

Standard on the 1988 Audi 80 Quattro, 90 and 90 Quattro models is Audi's proven five-cylinder, 2.3-liter powerplant currently available in the Audi 5000 line. This sophisticated engine develops 30 horsepower at 5,700 RPM and accelerates these cars from zero to 60 miles per hour in 8.5 seconds.

The new models are available at A.E. Park Corp., 222 Lowell St., Lawrence, MA 01840. 686-9743.

The cucumber, eggplant, pumpkin, squash and tomato are all fruits, not vegetables.

THE COMPETITION FADES BY COMPARISON.

The sport sedans preferred by the scrutinizing drivers of Germany are the new Audi 80s and 90s. Not the BMW 325. And not the Mercedes-Benz 190.

And the Germans should know. They have a measuring device to compare sophisticated performance characteristics: the Autobahn.

Come in for a test drive at your nearest Audi Dealer. You'll find out why these new Audis make the competition fade by comparison.

Bank Opens New Headquarters

Officials at Lawrence Savings Bank announce the grand opening of new headquarters and a full service branch at 30 Massachusetts Avenue. The 47,000-square-foot facility will house lending, finance and administration offices in addition to the branch operation.

The new location was selected because it provides good public access and visibility and gives the bank an additional 17,000 square feet of space needed to support growth. The building has allowed the bank to consolidate administration, operations and lending offices which were formerly in two locations. The result will be improved operating efficiency, productivity and customer service.

A full service branch will offer commercial, consumer and mortgage loans, savings accounts, retirement accounts and bank life insurance. The facility also includes an X-Press 24 automated teller machine, a night depository and drive-up window.

The bank, which celebrates its 120th anniversary this year, recently announced an acquisition agreement with Newworld Bank, Boston. The merger, which is pending shareholder and regulatory approval, will expand the bank's market area and strengthen its ability to respond to future banking and financial service needs.

Hay Scales Hosts Meeting

The Hay Scales Exchange on Johnson Street in North Andover hosted the regional meeting for the Federation of Women's Exchanges on March 15. Representatives from Portland and Kennebunk, Maine, Dedham, Gloucester, Lincoln and Wayland had coffee and a chance to browse at the Hay Scales. A luncheon and discussion period followed at Mill Pond. Dorothy Bade, president of the National Federation, was the speaker. She will retire at the national meeting in Memphis, Tennessee, in May.

The Hay Scales has more than 600 consignors displaying handmade items. New items are always coming into the shop and seasonal items are always available.

system, a leak in the fuel tank or a problem relating to the heater core or heating system, call Leo J. Couture & Sons today. They offer a complete line of new replacement radiators and they can also provide you with a complete new core. Or, if you're prefer, Couture's will replace your defective radiator with a used one. Not only will you save money but you will still be given a guarantee.

In addition to radiator repair, Leo J. Couture & Sons provide a 24 hour towing service. They will also pay schools, faces long odds for election Monday, March 28.

Jack Dziadul, founder of the Citizens for Neighborhood Schools, supports Salazar's candidacy despite a difference of opinion concerning the collaborative school. The endorsement was unexpected since Salazar has been active on the legislative committee formed by Dennis Richards, director of the Collaborative Project. Salazar has responded to the endorsement by indicating that he hopes "others will also see that he will be unbiased in making decisions about community-wide projects."

Active in Andover parent activities, Salazar is co-chairman of the Secondary Parents Group, founded by Dr. Les Loomis in 1986. He is vice president, engineering, for INFINET Inc. of North Andover, a computer communications firm. Salazar was previously employed by AT&T Information Systems, Bell Laboratories and the United Nations and holds a Ph.D degree in electrical engineering from Michigan State University.

Joseph Blanchette, age unknown, of Lawrence, is in critical condition at Lawrence General Hospital. He has several broken ribs and a cut lip.

Jean Bolduc, 16, of Methuen, suffered a broken pelvis and internal injuries. She is in Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

St. Jean is being charged with vehicular homicide

Puppets

Professional puppeteer Claire DiMeo will perform "The Bird of Seven Colors," an authentic folk tale from Puerto Rico. Saturday, March 26, at 11 a.m. at the Arts Center, 25 Woburn St., Reading.

A silly princess, talking tree and ominous ocean wave are a few of the characters a little orphan girl, treated badly by her selfish mistress, meets on a dangerous journey.

"The Bird of Seven Colors" is part of an Arts Fair from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the center. There will be "hands-on" activities in arts and crafts, music performances, art exhibits, raffles.

Schools

• "The students of each community will be afforded the best each school district has to offer while learning of the cultural and social differences inherent in urban and suburban life; and.

• "The ability of communities to work together to solve common problems is paramount to their continued growth and stability as they address the issues of the next century."

The proposed Collaborative School has been the source of much conflict over the last several months. More recently, the heated controversy has been put on the back burner because the vote, originally scheduled for the upcoming Town Meeting, has been postponed.

Chef Louis Juliano and Head Chef/Manager Larry Lawson

Kelley's Seafood & Steakhouse: A Gourmet's Delight

Kelley's Seafood & Steakhouse has always meant fine dining. But, when Larry Lawson came on board as Head Chef and Manager, fine became finer.

Continual up-grading of Kelley's being top priority of owner Edward DerKazarian, led to the addition of Chef Louis Juliano, of Cambridge, MA. However, Chef Juliano comes to Kelley's direct from Woodland's Country Club, located in one of the most affluent suburbs of Houston, Texas. Combining the talents of these two gentlemen has created the finest menu ever offered at Kelley's.

Thursday evening will be "Gourmet Night", however, gourmet entrees will also be offered on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings, in addition to their regular menu. To whet your appetite, allow me to list some of the tantalizing dishes to be served during the next few weeks:

- Steak Au Poirve
- Veal Marsala
- Coquille St. Jacques
- Chicken Cheseapeake
- Shrimp Kabob Mari-nade
- Beef Wellington
- Filet of Haddock Oscar

- Veal Marengo
  - Grilled Salmon Steaks
  - Beef Roulades
  - Lamb Chops DiJonaize
- plus many more.

Chef Lawson reminds us that all seafood is fresh from the docks - never frozen - and Lobster Specialties are a year 'round treat for all to enjoy. Don't miss the Lobster Thermador! It's truly an epicurean delight!

Come to Kelley's Seafood & Steakhouse at 178 Main St., North Reading and get a taste of what's new! Tel. 664-2103 Olga Jenkins-Price

CHATELLETS AND FIXTURES

All property is divided into two classes: PERSONAL and REAL. Real estate consists of the land and whatever is attached to it. Personal property (chattels) is moveable. The tree growing on your land is part of the real estate. When cut and made into lumber, it becomes personal property. Alternately, chattels can become real estate. A sink in the store is personal property. Take it home and hook it up and it becomes a fixture. A term for chattels that have become real property.

Many disputes in real estate center around what does or does not remain with the property. In general, chattels may be taken away; fixtures must remain. To avoid argument, remove certain items before showing the property. If you plan to keep the special dining room chandelier, for example, the simplest solution is to replace it before the house is ever shown. If you are not going to do this, state clearly in writing that you reserve the right to remove certain items that buyers might assume would stay.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Real Estate Happenings

by Peter D. Collins

RANCH DRESSING

The ranch house became popular after World War II, beginning as a modification of the Cape Cod cottage. Cape Cods are typically one and a half stories, with a living room, dining room, kitchen, bath and one or two bedrooms on the first floor. There are usually two bedrooms and usually a bath on the second floor. The one-story ranch gives a gentler pitch to the roof and brings the price down as well, making the house affordable for first-time buyers. Features possibilities for a great inside extension to an L-shape. The adds elegance and some interest to the design. A wall of windows may be added to the inner corner to give the home a wide light entry point.

Reverend, during the construction of the new interior market, a good common entry. The more and more people are seeking the guidance and assistance of experienced professional real estate people. ## REAL ESTATE GUIDELINES

By Ann Campbell, G.R.I.
Realty U.S.A.
Schruender Real Estate

A CURE FOR BUYER'S REMORSE

When you sign a purchase agreement on a new home, you'll almost certainly feel an attack of incredibly intense panic and anxiety. Did I pay too much? Is it really the right one? How can I ever pay those enormous mortgage payments? How can I get out of it? This is a completely normal response called "Buyer's Remorse."

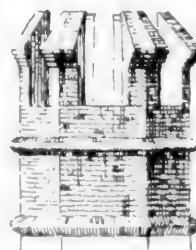

When you feel it coming on, call a friend who's owned a home for a few years. Is he bothered by rapidly escalating prices? Not at all. They mean the value of his home is going up, too. While his mortgage payments seemed high at first, now they're probably less than he'd be paying to rent a smaller place. Then there's pride of ownership. He will enhance the value of his property. How did he feel when he first signed on the dotted line? Just as anxious as you are, but now he's really glad he went through with it. So, when you experience home buyer's panic, just hang in there. You'll be glad you did!

If there's a move in your future, the real estate professionals at Realty USA Schruender Real Estate are ready to serve you. Call us at 685-5000 or drop by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover.

Protest March May Be Repeated

By Julie M. Barry

Nation-wide protests against the Reagan administration's latest action in Central America didn't bypass Andover, and last Saturday's rally may not have been a one-shot deal.

The Greater Lawrence Central American Solidarity Association (CASA), the group that staged the protest in Andover, intends to continue working hard to end military aid to the Contras.

"Clearly, we'll be protesting to affect the upcoming legislation for Contra aid," Tom Meyers, Doherty Junior High School teacher and CASA member, said. CASA is an organization that works towards economic and political justice in Central America, Meyers said. He said its members use several methods to fight for their cause. They organize educational and public forums; they try to affect legislation by writing letters and petitions to senators and representatives; they organize phone banks to raise money; and they participate in sign-holding events, as they did on Main Street last weekend.

Last Saturday, more than 70 people, consisting mainly of Andover residents, protested the United States' military presence in Honduras by rallying in front of Old Town Hall.

That protest was "specifically against the movement of troops into the region, and the Reagan administration's overall support of terrorists (Contras) who have been attacking the independent nation of Nicaragua," Meyers said.

According to Meyers, the goal of the protest was to heighten public awareness of the administration's actions in Nicaragua.

Irving Gershenberg, a professor at the University of Massachusetts in Boston and a protester at Saturday's rally, said it was a successful one. "It brought people together in a show of solidarity and support," he said.

During the protest, Gershenberg circulated a petition that said "Bring our boys home from Honduras." This, along with a request to stop all aid to the Contras and to support the peace process in Central America, are the main pleas in the petition, signed by almost 50 people.

The rally also generated some opposition among supporters of the government's move. Meyers said some people called the protesters communists and some shrieked "Go Ollie North."

One unidentified woman accosted three protestors, Meyers said. She tried to rip off the clerical collar of the Rev. Richard Gross, Catholic chaplain at Phillips Academy. Gross was unavailable for comment.

Meyers said she also pushed Glenda McKertich, owner of Earthfood Store, 24 Park St., into an 11-year-old protestor, identified as Nora Ingalls of Salem, Mass.

"You never know what's going to happen," said Meyers, adding that, at a protest, people are taking a position on a heated issue.

Cablevision Rates To Increase

Heritage Cablevision announced a rate adjustment for its subscribers in Andover, Dracut, North Reading and Middleton, effective May 1.

The new monthly rate for Basic Cable will be $12.95 with Expanded Basic rate of $15.95, according to Bob Carr, president and general manager of Heritage Cablevision of Northern Massachusetts. He also reported that the monthly rate for HBO, Cinemax, Showtime, Disney and the Movie Channel will decrease slightly to $10.95.

Carr said, "We are fortunate to continually see more and better programming in basic cable, which customer surveyors tell us our subscribers enjoy watching. We appreciate the loyalty of our customers and will strive to offer the quality and diversity they deserve."

Visible

Mir, the permanently manned Soviet space station, will be visible with the naked eye over the Boston area Tuesday, April 5. It will rise in the southwest at about 7 p.m., appearing as a bright star. Its highest point will be toward the southeast; approximately 75 degrees high. Mir will set in the northeast about three minutes after it rises.
